

---

Illustrations

Figures

|       |   |     |
|-------|---|-----|
| 1.1.  | T'kama/Adamastor by Cyril Coetzee (1999). © Africana Collections, University of the Witwatersrand.   | 29  |
| 3.1.  | Moldavian King Stephan fighting Hadım Suleiman Pasha's army in Almaş's book. © Valentin Tănase.   | 68  |
| 3.2.  | Cover of Gândirea magazine, December 1921. © Central University Library Cluj.  | 72  |
| 3.3.  | Cover of Luceafărul magazine, February 1904. © Wikicommons.  | 80  |
| 3.4.  | Damirescu's book, tattered by time and misuse, in my childhood home. © Alexandra Coțofană.  | 84  |
| 3.5.  | Almaş's volumes in my childhood home. © Alexandra Coțofană.   | 85  |
| 3.6.  | Scan from Almaş. Romanian archers and the xenophobic sentient landscape attacking. © Valentin Tănase.   | 86  |
| 3.7.  | Scan from Almaş. Beastly sentient others stealing riches from a Romanian boy. © Valentin Tănase.  | 87  |
| 3.8.  | Scan from Almaş. Princess Dochia resisting colonization. © Valentin Tănase.   | 88  |
| 3.9.  | Scan from Almaş. Battle of Posada. © Valentin Tănase.   | 89  |
| 3.10. | Scan from Almaş. Romanians attacking German tanks in World War II. © Valentin Tănase.   | 90  |
| 3.11. | Scan from Almaş. Horea and his capturers. © Valentin Tănase.  | 91  |
| 8.1.  | Limache Cross. Source: Alonso de Ovalle's 1646 Histórica Relación del Reyno de Chile (Historical account of the kingdom of Chile) (between pp. 58 and 59). © memoriachilena. | 197 |

Maps

- |   |    |
|---|----|
| 3.1. The Romanian map with an arrow pointing to the Prahova River. © Wikimedia Commons. | 75 |
| 3.2. The Danube, Prut, and Olt Rivers. © Wikimedia Commons.                             | 77 |