

Contents

---

List of Illustrations	ix
Foreword Margaret Purser	xii
Preface	xxvii
Acknowledgments	xxxiv

Part I. Preservation of Cultural Resources

Chapter 1 PANYC: The Why, the Then, and the Now Joan H. Geismar	1
Chapter 2 “Cursed Be He That Moves My Bones”: The Archaeologist’s Role in Protecting Burial Sites in Urban Areas Elizabeth D. Meade and Douglas Mooney	14

Part II. Raising Public, Descendant, and Community Voices

Chapter 3 Digging Truth: Archaeology and Public Imagination in Shockoe Bottom Ana Edwards and Matthew R. Laird	45
Chapter 4 Seneca Village Interpretations: Bringing Collaborative Historical Archaeology and Heritage Advocacy to the Forefront and Online Meredith B. Linn, Nan A. Rothschild, and Diana diZerega Wall	68
Chapter 5 Right to the City: Community-Based Urban Archaeology as Abolitionist Heritage Kelly M. Britt	98

Part III. Knowledge and Power

Chapter 6

“Think Like a Historical Archaeologist”: Moving Beyond the Primary Source Document in K–12 Education 127

Appendix 141

Elizabeth Martin

Chapter 7

“DIVERS[S]” and the Political Legacies of an “Experience-Exhibition” 145

María Fernanda Ugalde and O. Hugo Benavides

Chapter 8

American Apotheosis: Confronting Exceptionalism in the (Re)Production of National Identity 169

Diane F. George

Afterword 201

Christopher N. Matthews

Index 215