

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgments	x
Introduction. The Darker and the Lighter Sides of Biomedical Maternity Care: Moving from Obstetric Violence, Disrespect, and Abuse to the Humanization and Decolonization of Birth Robbie Davis-Floyd and Ashish Premkumar	1
Part 1. Obstetric Violence and Systematic Racial, Ethnic, Gendered, and Socio-Structural Disparities in Obstetricians' Practices
Chapter 1. Obstetricians and the Delivery of Obstetric Violence: An Ethnographic Account from the Dominican Republic Annie Preaux and Arachu Castro	23
Chapter 2. "Bad Pelvises": Mexican Obstetricians and the Re-Affirmation of Race in Labor and Delivery Sarah A. Williams	44
Chapter 3. "Selfish Mothers," "Misinformed" Childbearers, and "Control Freaks": Gendered Tropes in US Obstetricians' Justifications for Delegitimizing Patient Autonomy in Childbirth Lauren Diamond-Brown	63
Chapter 4. Implicit Racial Bias in Obstetrics: How US Obstetricians View and Treat Pregnant Women of Color Genevieve Ritchie-Ewing	83
Chapter 5. Censusing the Quechua: Peruvian Obstetras in Light of Historic Sterilizations, Contemporary Accusations, and Biopolitical Statecraft Obligations Rebecca Irons	105

Part 2. Decolonizing and Humanizing Obstetric Training and Practice? Obstetricians, Midwives, and Their Battles against “The System”

Chapter 6. Decolonizing Biomedical Education in the UK 129
Amali U. Lokugamage, Tharanika Ahillan, and S. D. C. Pathberiya

Chapter 7. Teaching Humanistic and Holistic Obstetrics: Triumphs and Failures 161
Beverley Chalmers

Chapter 8. The Inconsistent Path of Russian Obstetricians to the Humanization of Birth in Post-Soviet Maternity Care 184
Anna Ozhiganova and Anna Temkina

Chapter 9. The Paradigm Shifts of Humanistic and Holistic Obstetricians: The “Good Guys and Girls” of Brazil 208
Robbie Davis-Floyd and Eugenia Georges

Chapter 10. Interprofessional Education for Medical and Midwifery Students in Aotearoa New Zealand 236
Rea Daellenbach, Lorna Davies, Maggie Meeks, Coleen Caldwell, Melanie Welfare, and Judy Ormandy

Chapter 11. The Changing Face of Obstetric Practice in the United States as the Percent of Women in the Specialty Has Grown 256
Deborah McNabb

Part 3. The Ethnographic Challenges of Gaining Access to Obstetricians for Surveys, Interviews, and Observations

Chapter 12. The Ethnographic Challenges of Gaining Access to Obstetricians for Surveys, Interviews, and Observations 285
Robbie Davis-Floyd and Ashish Premkumar

Conclusions. Concepts, Conceptual Frameworks, and Lessons Learned 305
Robbie Davis-Floyd and Ashish Premkumar

Series Conclusions. Creating the Anthropology of Obstetrics and Obstetricians and Suggesting Directions for Future Research 327
Robbie Davis-Floyd and Ashish Premkumar

Index 350