

CONTENTS

List of Tables	viii
Foreword by Jay Winter	ix
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction
Toward a Musical Approach to Postwar Transitions Anaïs Fléchet, Martin Guerpin, Philippe Gumpłowicz, and Barbara L. Kelly	1
Part I. Reconstructing the Music World
Chapter 1
Transitioning from the Turmoil through Music: Withdrawal, Patriotism, Sublimation: Georges Bizet in the Early 1870s Hervé Lacombe	21
Chapter 2
Revolutionary Music from War to Peace: Mexico, 1910s–1930s Pablo Palomino	39
Chapter 3
First Concerts on the International Stage: The British Comebacks of the Vienna and Berlin Philharmonics in 1947/48 Friedemann Pestel	54
Part II. A Gradual Demobilization: Music, Cultures of War, and National Imaginations
Chapter 4
Discourse on Music and the Postwar Transition: The Case of France after the Franco-Prussian Conflict of 1870–1871 Emmanuel Reibel	83

Chapter 5
Singing about the Former Enemy: Two Postwar Transition Periods Seen through the Lens of the Café-Concert and Music Hall Chanson, 1871–1923	102
Martin Guerpin
Chapter 6
War of Taste in Popular and Folk Music: French Chanson, 1940–1942	121
Philippe Gumpłowicz
Chapter 7
Postwar Transitions and Uses of Music in a Central European Borderland Region: Tyrol and the Aftermath of Two World Wars, 1900–2010s	137
Michael Wedekind
Part III. Memory, Mourning, and Commemoration
Chapter 8
Béranger’s Napoleonic Songs: Mourning, Memory, and the Future	159
Sophie-Anne Leterrier
Chapter 9
“Will We Return Unscathed?” Paul Hindemith’s Minimax and the Trauma of War	179
Lesley Hughes
Chapter 10
The Construction of a Transatlantic Repertoire of Resistance and Mourning in the Postwar Years: Sources Collected by Shmerke Kacerginski (Vilna, New York, Buenos Aires)	194
Jean-Sébastien Noël
Chapter 11
Singing the Unspeakable in Rwanda in the Summer of 1994: Music in the Context of the Genocidal Abyss through a Portrait of the Artist	208
Benjamin Chemouni and Assumpta Mugiraneza

Part IV. Music for Peace and Reconciliation?

Chapter 12

Peacemaking and Festivities at the Congress of Paris, 1856 229
Damien Mahiet

Chapter 13

Internationalism and Musical Exchange in Post–World War I
 Europe, 1918–1923 246
Barbara L. Kelly

Chapter 14

Music: A Weapon for Peace? The United States, UNESCO, and the Creation of the International Music Council, 1945–1953 271
Anaïs Fléchet

Afterword

Survival, Desire, Empowerment, and the Absence of Words: Music in Postwar Transitions, 1800–1950 290
Jessica Gienow-Hecht

Index 299