

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgements	xiii
Introduction	1
Part I. Italian Cinema and Society, 1945–52	17
1. Postwar Cinema and the Challenges of Democracy	19
2. The Film Industry from Fascism to the Cold War	34
3. The Transformation of the Star System	51
4. The Public, Film-Going and the Stars	73
Part II. Stardom, Anti-Fascism and Neorealism	93
5. Massimo Girotti: Proletarian Apollo	95
6. Clara Calamai: The Suspension of Glamour	114
7. Aldo Fabrizi: Nostalgia and Popular Culture	132
8. Anna Magnani: Authenticity and the Star Persona	150
9. Andrea Checchi: Shadows of Defeat	173

Part III. Popular Idols for New Times	191
10. Totò: Jester of the Republic	193
11. Silvana Mangano: Beauty and Stardom	216
12. Amedeo Nazzari: The Hero Domesticated	240
13. Silvana Pampanini: Dream Girl of the Masses	261
14. Raf Vallone: The Physiognomy of Fame	282
Part IV. Reconfigurations of Stardom	301
15. The Non-professional Actor and Low-Definition Stardom	303
16. Co-productions and International Stardom	323
Conclusion	344
Bibliography	349
Index	362