

Contents

List of Tables	vii
Foreword to the English Edition	viii
Preface to the English Edition	xii
List of Abbreviations	xv
Timeline	xviii
1. Images of Nineteenth-Century Germany and How They Have Changed	1
Interpretations up to 1945	1
Views of the Nineteenth Century after 1945	6
Present-Day Views of the Nineteenth Century	10
Structure of the Book	15
2. The Century of Industrialization	20
Basic Patterns of Economic Growth	20
Three Phases	24
Labor, Culture, and Knowledge	28
Capitalism	30
Unintended Consequences: Crises and the Anthropocene	32
3. Population Growth and Patterns of Migration: Poverty and Gradual Amelioration	37
Population Growth and Generative Behavior	37
Emigration between Pauperism and Industrialization	43
Internal Migration and the Beginning of Urbanization	48
4. An Increasingly Bourgeois Century	54
Workers and the Bourgeoisie: Class Formation and Class Conflict	54
Women and Men	61
Middle Classes and Bourgeois Culture	66
Embourgeoisement and Its Limits: Nobility, Countryside, Churches, and People	70

Bourgeois Society vs. Civil Society	76
From the Late Eighteenth to the Early Twentieth Century	79
5. Education and Scholarship, the Sciences and the Arts	88
Developments up to around 1850	89
The Third Quarter of the Century	97
The Imperial Period	100
6. Nation-State, Integration, and War	114
The Formation of the Nation: Concepts and Basic Patterns	115
The Functions of Nationalism and German Peculiarities	120
Experiencing Push and Pull: Between Peace and War	125
Conclusion: The Breakthrough of Classical Modernity	139
Bibliography	147
Index	157