

CONTENTS

List of Figures	vii
Introduction. Reflections on the “New Dementia” Annette Leibing and Silke Schicktanz	1
PART I. The Discursive and Social Practices of Dementia Prevention
1. A Window to Act? Revisiting the Conceptual Foundations of Alzheimer’s Disease in Dementia Prevention Lara Keuck	19
2. The Vascularization of Alzheimer’s Disease: Prevention in “Glocal” Geriatric Care Annette Leibing	40
3. If Dementia Prevention Is the Answer, What Was the Question? Observations from the German Alzheimer’s Disease Debate Silke Schicktanz	65
4. Dementia Prevention: Another Expansion of the Preventive Horizon Matthias Leanza	92
5. Mind’s Frailty: Elements of a “Geriatric Logic” in the Clinical Discourse about Dementia Prevention Alessandro Blasimme	110
PART II. From the Prediction and Early Detection to the Prevention of Dementia
6. Revisiting MCI: On Classificatory Drift Tiago Moreira	131

7. The Preventive Uncertainty of Mild Cognitive Impairment (MCI): The Experts, the Market, and the Subjects of Diagnosis Stephen Katz, Kevin R. Peters, and Peri J. Ballantyne	151
PART III. Conceptual Premises and Normative Claims of Prevention
8. Staging Prevention, Arresting Progress: Chronic Disease Prevention and the Lifestyle Frame Kirsten Bell	175
9. Responsibilization of Aging? An Ethical Analysis of the Moral Economy of Prevention Mark Schweda and Larissa Pfaller	192
10. Governing through Prevention: Lifestyle and the Health Field Concept Thomas Foth	214
Afterword. Looking Forward Peter J. Whitehouse and Daniel R. George	242
Index	251