

Contents

List of Illustrations	vi
Acknowledgements	viii
Introduction	1
Part I: Interwar Cinema: Striving for Social Promotion	27
1 The 1920s: The Cult of the Body and the Machine	35
2 The 1930s: The Beauty and Sadness of the Room at the Top	46
Part II: The Cinema in People's Poland: Taking a Great Leap	81
3 The 1950s: Holy Work?	103
4 The 1960s: Industrial Expansion and Small Stabilization	144
5 The 1970s: Bad Work and Good Life	181
6 The 1980s: Between Refusal to Work and Alienation of Labour	223
Part III: Postcommunist Cinema: From Triumphant Neoliberalism to Accumulation by Dispossession	255
7 The 1990s: Heroic Neoliberalism or Everybody Can Be a Winner	265
8 The 2000s and Beyond: Accumulation by Dispossession	287
Bibliography	309
Index	329