

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction. Travel Writing and Movement Samia Ounoughi and Tim Hannigan	1
Chapter 1. Figures in a Landscape: Movement, Stasis and the Travel Writer as Image Collector Tim Hannigan	15
Chapter 2. Canoeing on the Waterways of Europe: Defining a Practice and a Genre through Robert Louis Stevenson's An Inland Voyage and Accounts of Other Travellers Kévin Cristin	36
Chapter 3. F. Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald's Literary and Visual European Journeys: A 'Carnival by the Sea', and Many 'Quick Odysseys' Elisabeth Bouzonviller	56
Chapter 4. Terror, Pity, Love: The Trials and Tribulations of Annemarie Schwarzenbach and Ella Maillart on the Road to Kabul Julia Szottysek	80
Chapter 5. The Novel at the End of the Road: The Soul Circuit of Jack Kerouac as a Professional Writer Martin Wable	98
Chapter 6. 'A Strange Kind of Limbo': Navigating the Unknown in Contemporary Anglophone Female Travel Writing Gemma Lake	115
Chapter 7. Writing from the Ice: An Examination of Contemporary Travel Writing in Antarctica Kelly E. Hall	132

Chapter 8. Moving between Modes: Robert Macfarlane’s and Kathleen Jamie’s Journeys on Foot and in Time Monika Kocot	150
Chapter 9. ‘Did They Even Go There?’: Virtual Experience and Projected Journeys in Contemporary Travel Guidebooks Tim Hannigan	170
Chapter 10. Dialogue Journaling in Travel Writing Projects Clarisse Chicot-Feindouno, Charles Mansfield and Mark Stothard	185
Conclusion. Writing on the Move: About and Beyond Travel Writing Samia Ounoughi	210
Index	222