

Contents

| | |
|---|-----|
| List of Illustrations | vii |
| Acknowledgements | ix |
| Introduction | 1 |
| Luisa Passerini and Dieter Reinisch | |
| Part I. Body in Movement/Body in Constraint | |
| Chapter 1. Bodily Ways of Knowing and Remembering: Movement, Kinaesthesia and Mobility | 27 |
| Marina Nordera | |
| Chapter 2. Corporeality and Militant Performance during Northern Irish Prison Protests, 1971–1983 | 45 |
| Dieter Reinisch | |
| Part II. Spectacle and Activism | |
| Chapter 3. Soviet Media after 1968: Visuality, Corporeality and Identity | 71 |
| Bohdan Shumylovyh | |
| Chapter 4. Bartering and Cross-Border Embodied Performances | 96 |
| Annelis Kuhlmann | |
| Chapter 5. The Filmmaker as Saboteur: Found Footage and Radical Appropriation in Llorenç Soler's Militant Films | 122 |
| Pablo La Parra-Pérez | |

Part III. Reports from the Field

| | |
|---|-----|
| Chapter 6. A Letter to the Future: Autumn Knight's WALL (2016/2019) at the Studio Museum in Harlem Cori Olinghouse | 143 |
| Chapter 7. Philadelphia Immigration Stories: Making the Aural Visual Janneken Smucker | 159 |
| Afterword Alexander Etkind | 176 |
| Index | 181 |