

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
Noam Tirosh and Anna Reading
Introduction. A Right to Memory	1
Noam Tirosh and Anna Reading
Chapter 1. Antigone’s Shadow: Human Rights, Memory, and the Two World Wars	17
Jay Winter
Chapter 2. Framing Memory Rights in International Law	33
Anna Reading
Chapter 3. The “Duty to Remember” and the “Right to Memory”: Memory Politics and Neoliberal Logic	53
Lea David
Chapter 4. Memory, Rights, and Sen’s “Capabilities Approach”	76
Noam Tirosh and Amit Schejter
Chapter 5. “The Memory Belongs to No One and It Belongs to Everyone”: An Analysis of a Grassroots Claim to the Right to Memory	92
Rebecca Kook
Chapter 6. Using and Abusing Memory Laws in Search of “Historical Truth”: The Case of the 2018 Amendments to the Polish Institute of National Remembrance Act	112
Aleksandra Gliszczyńska-Grabias and Grażyna Baranowska
Chapter 7. The Right to Produce Memory: Social Memory Technology as Cultural Work	132
Karen Worcman and Joanne Garde-Hansen
Chapter 8. Beyond a Human Right to Memory	149
Anna Reading

Conclusion	162
Index	166