

≈: CONTENTS ≈

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| List of Illustrations   | vii |
| Acknowledgments   | ix  |
| Introduction. German Studies and Ethnography: Histories, Similarities, and IntersectionsA. Dana Weber  | 1   |
| Chapter 1. Incognito ergo sum : Ethnographic Observation as Mediator between Poetic Self-Projection and Sociological Narration in Goethe's WorkChristian P. Weber | 45  |
| Chapter 2. On Authority of Observation in Travel Writing: Georg Forster's Self-Reflexive AnthropologyMadhuvanti Karyekar   | 89  |
| Chapter 3. Adolf Bastian, Walter Benjamin, and Deep History: Rethinking the Universal ArchiveAndrew Calabro Cavin  | 117 |
| Chapter 4. Crowd Control: Organizing Peoples with the Habitus Praecipuorum Populorum (1577)Lacy Gillette  | 138 |
| Chapter 5. Workers, Turks, Muslims: Ethnographies of Migration to Germany-in-Europe RevisitedLevent Soysal   | 161 |
| Chapter 6. Ethnography and the Image of New World Indians in German Travel Narratives and Visual Culture in the Early Modern PeriodGiovanna Montenegro                   | 187 |
| Chapter 7. An Ethnography of Home: Writing Colonial Culture into German Naturalist LiteratureAlyssa Howards  | 217 |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| Chapter 8. Ethnographic Shortcuts: Art Exhibition and Fieldwork in the Everyday Spaces between Anthropology of Art and German StudiesBarbara Wolbert | 235 |
| Chapter 9. Changing Perspectives: The Dirndl—A Contemporary Topic of Urban EthnographySimone Egger   | 267 |
| Chapter 10. Literary Ethnography: Fieldwork in the Eifel, a German Literary Tourism SiteRaphaela Knipp   | 285 |
| Conclusion. Crafting German ThingsAndrew Stuart Bergerson  | 307 |
| Index   | 325 |